Description: Humans are a puzzling species. On the one hand, we struggle to survive on our own in the wild, often failing to overcome even basic challenges, like obtaining food, building shelters, or avoiding predators. On the other hand, human groups have produced ingenious technologies, sophisticated languages, and complex institutions that have permitted us to...

Review: Simple theories of humans and society are nice because they can be easily applied without such huge experience on different cultures or history. Modelling people as rational actors maximizing their utility functions quite well predicts the behaviour of peoples in markets. Such models give good guidelines to develop an efficient society based on free...
